

OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS IN SOUTH AFRICA

The Social Justice Chair, LexisNexis and the Thuma Foundation invite all students in South Africa to participate in an exciting project to bring the law to everyone!

Our Everyday Justice project is a community education program, designed to promote legal literacy, democracy literacy and the rule of law, with a view to improving human rights awareness and the ability of communities to participate in holding government and others accountable. Central to this is the ability of individuals and a community to participate in democratic processes so as to ensure the attainment of social justice in their everyday lives. Phase I of Everyday Justice will be launched as an interactive website with the objective to develop a mobile application in the foreseen future.

ENTER THE EVERYDAY JUSTICE DESIGN COMPETITION & WIN!

We invite you to:

- Design a background, logo and character for our Everyday Justice website and education project through the use of comics and
- Name the gender neutral character with whom visitors will interact

NB. Any image (photo) entered should be in full HD Res (1920 x 1080) to enable us to scale them up where needs be. It's also much easier for us to work with images in a .png format.

Competition closing date:

16 November 2020

Exciting Prizes to be won!

- A book sponsored by LexisNexis
- Cash prize to the value of R5 000